Provoking Hope

The hope for the realization of human flourishing among men, women, and children in low income situations involves the opportunity of such individuals to possess land, sustainable lodging, holistic learning, and productive labor. Human flourishing originates from an accurate understanding of humanity's origin and purpose in the presence of a living God. When persons have opportunities to access and leverage land, possess safe sustainable lodging, participate in creative learning, and conducts labor which benefits self and neighbor individual human dignity is affirmed and societal structures are benefited.

An Imagination of Hope

We exist to advocate for others through the opening of holistic centers within under resourced areas in Central Arkansas to influence change in unique ways which involves active presence and relational transformation.

Imagine men, women, and children attending a place where they live and develop every aspect of the self. Imagine a place in which CoHO becomes the center of gravity for holistic renewal for the good of the community, our city, and county.

Advancing Hope

CoHO considers the whole person and the environment in which he or she lives as vitally important to the realization of human flourishing. Therefore, land, lodging, learning, labor, and loyalty to faith are significantly vital. In order to accomplish such work CoHO pursues collaboration with local government, nonprofits, businesses, and the private citizen to leverage all types of resources to work in our most vulnerable communities.

Partnerships

A financial partnership with The City of Hope Outreach is one of the important ways your family, group, or business can support strategic and operational activities. As a 501c3 organization incorporated in the state of Arkansas, your tax-deductible contributions will be leveraged with other generous donors to influence transformation in the city of Conway and Faulkner County.
